

Utility Line Protection Program Now Available to Residents

The City of Plano is introducing a new, optional program available to homeowners, provided through the National League of Cities (NLC) Service Line Warranty Program administered by Service Line Warranties of America (SLWA). The Service Line Warranty program provides low cost, worry-free warranty protection for sewer and water lines.

"Many citizens are unaware that they are responsible for the sewer and water lines located between their houses and the point of utility maintenance. If these lines break or leak, repairs can be very expensive," said Bruce D. Glasscock, City Manager. The Service Line Warranty program offers citizens an affordable way to avoid the unexpected and often large expense involved with a sewer or water line break. When a line breaks, the cost to repair it can often cause hardship on a family's budget. This new program will offer warranty protection to help cover the costs of a break.

The outside water line warranty covers repairs and replacements on the outside water line that runs from the point of utility responsibility to the home. Property owners are responsible for these repairs not the utility." To the right of this text is a large green leaf with a water droplet falling from it. City of Plano residents will see offers for the sewer line warranty from SLWA in their mail boxes soon. Offers from SLWA for the water line warranty will be coming in the fall. The cost for citizens who choose to purchase the sewer warranty protection this spring is $5.95 per month, and will cover sewer line repairs up to $4,000 plus an additional allowance of $4,000 for public street cutting, if needed. The program is offered at no cost to the City of Plano, and no public funds are used to promote the program.
